

Blastoff!

Hundreds of Country Club School students got the thrill of their young lives Monday morning in San Ramon, when a 70-foot high hot air balloon, belonging to Hank Thornton, went airborne from the school's play area—carrying Thornton and principal Guy Hockett. The exhibition of hot air ballooning culminated a unit of study by the sixth graders of Lincoln Olbrycht. The students had studied the aerodynamics of hot air balloons and made their own miniature balloons, many of which soared quite high after launching. Olbrycht had arranged for Thornton to bring his ballooning equipment to the school. Thornton is pictured inflating the balloon as students shield eyes from sun and await launch.

Teachers win salary verdict, knock appeal

Threat of strike vote in Amador district

A County Superior Court judge's decision Monday has "unfrozen" earned step and column salaries of Amador Valley Joint High School District teachers, but a possible appeal by the district has angered teacher unit leaders to the point of considering a strike vote.

Judge William J. Hayes, in rendering the four-page decision, said the earned step and column increments (on the 1975-76 schedule) are retroactive to July 1, 1976 and payable "forthwith" with 7 per cent interest. Also, the district must pay $1,000 in attorneys' fees.

Hayes found, also, that there was no cause for action on the evaluation documents and letters of reprimand issued by the teachers. Superintendent Bruce Newlin did note, in reacting to the decision, that the district must attach a note to the teacher files saying the teachers in question did not sign the forms.

Newlin said Amador district legal counsel Keith Breon would file an appeal to be lodged with the District Court of Appeals. The district has 15 days in which to file an appeal.

At the same time, Newlin opined that "since mediation has not proven successful, fact-finding should be instituted."

Teachers unit president Dave Woolworth said he was "not pleased with the district appealing the decision. We don't want to go to fact-finding ... we know the facts. They're presented in the judge's decision and now they (administration) won't accept it."

Woolworth said there would be a representative council meeting today at which the decision would be detailed and consideration given to calling a strike vote meeting.

The Dublin High industrial arts teacher said he wasn't certain if district teachers would approve going to fact-finding. The final decision rests with state-appointed mediator Mike West and Woolworth claims he will not recommend fact-finding.

The Pleasanton Joint School District has commenced fact-finding.

Woolworth said Amador district teacher leaders would watch outcome of the Pleasanton action—"as its a different district but the same administration."

The four-part action was filed in mid-December. The first listed action concerned evaluation forms with alleged false signatures as filed on behalf of Joan Fossum, Dianne Gill, Judy Herman, and Robin Zachritz.

Two other actions dealt with the response to a letter of reprimand by teacher Joe Banuat, and the status of the 1975-76 contracts of teachers Jim Parrish, Gary Poulos, and Barbara Zigenhals.

Median salary of Amador district teachers currently is $15,669, virtually the same as Pleasanton district teachers. The Amador salary schedule starts at $9,630 (with a degree and no previous experience) and includes six classes, with a top of $19,601 (for a degree plus 75 units of study completed).

Class I has six steps, Class II the same number ($10,253 to $12,728 range), and Class III 11 steps (from $10,876 to $16,146).

For parents, staff

Fallon — An open meeting is scheduled Wednesday at School for current parents and staff members of Fallon and Frederiksen.

Conversion plans are progressing for consolidation of Frederiksen - Fallon and Frederiksen-Cronin.

The meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. will focus on the consolidation plans.

Edgar testimonial

Reservations for the Bill Edgar testimonial dinner at Castlewood Country Club should be to Doris George at city hall by Thursday.

The dinner will begin at 8 p.m. Feb. 22 with no - host cocktails at 7 p.m. Cost is $9 per person and also includes donation for a going away present for the city manager. Edgar will begin his duties next month as Sacramento's assistant city manager.

Edgar announced his resignation last month as Pleasanton city manager.

Paddlin' Madeline

There will probably be paddle wheel boats and rowboats at the local regional parks for many moons, if an agreement before the East Bay Regional Park District board is approved this afternoon.

The agreement calls for an extension of the contract between EBRPD and concessionaires at Del Valle and Shadow Cliffs Parks through 1985. Other agenda items include approval of an agreement with Save the Tilden Merry-go-round Foundation, Inc.; authorization of a second condemnation proceeding on some property at Huckleberry Regional Regional Preserve; and a report on state bond funding in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. The meeting begins at 2 p.m. in BART headquarters, 800 Madison St., Oakland.

Chabot race on

In addition to the numerous elementary and high school district school board elections coming before Valley voters March 8, South County Community College District residents will vote on candidates for three board positions.

The South County district election process is setup so that, even though the Valley representative on the board is not up for reelection, all district residents vote.

The Valley representative on the South County Community College District board is Dorothy Hudgins.

Judge to speak

Judge Al Lewis of the Livermore - Pleasanton Municipal Court will speak on the Valley's criminal justice system before a Tuesday noon gathering of business men and women.

Judge Lewis is the senior member of the Valley's municipal bench. He will appear before the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon session at Hap's Restaurant on Neal Street. The no - host luncheon is open to the public.

Conflict code due

The Alameda County Resource Conservation District board will hold a special meeting at 10 a.m. today to consider a conflict of interest code.

Under new laws, members of any public board, commission or committee are supposed to disclose their financial status and to declare any possible conflicts of interest they may encounter in discharging their duties.

The RCD meeting will be at 1560 Catalina Court, Livermore. Harry Lefever is president of the board. The district aids farmers and ranchers with conservation projects.

No plea yet in slaying, man bailed

LIVERMORE — Norman Forgason, accused of beating his wife Barbara to death at a local hotel Feb. 5, was granted a continuance Monday by Municipal Court Judge Mark Eaton before entering a plea.

Eaton rescheduled the plea to Feb. 25 to allow Forgason time to find an attorney. The defendant was released on $10,000 bail.

The county coroner's office said at least four blows were dealt to the side of the victim's head, with one breaking a blood vessel and causing extreme pressure on the brain.

Committee spots

Demos boast clout

Election of three Valley - connected people to the state Democratic Central Committee bodes well for future political muscle in Democratic councils, according to Pleasanton attorney Alan Grossman.

Grossman was elected co - chairperson of the 14th Senate District central committee; Jim Copeland of Dublin, former aide to Congressman Pete Stark, was chosen treasurer for the Northern California district; and Mary Warren, an aide to the Valley's Assemblyman, Floyd Mori, was picked co - chairperson for the state central committee.

"This means we in the valley will have more to say about funding for local campaigns," said Grossman. "It means candidates from our area will get elected and can get pushed up the ladder statewide."

"It's in the best interests of the area to have someone from the Valley to keep ascending the chairs. If you want an overpass, for example, that's how you get it; not by having an Assemblyman from Union City," said Grossman.

The Pleasanton Democratic Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Pleasanton Hotel and be asked its feelings about paying $500 a year toward funding of a full - time year 'round south county Democratic Headquarters.

Great race for mayor under way

Six grins, worthy of Jimmy himself, flashed in the early - morning sunlight, the future was as unclouded as a California sky, and enthusiasm was as warm as the spring-like temperature.

The campaign to select the first Honorary Mayor of the Valley from among representatives of local service clubs opened with a breakfast meeting that spared no measure of good food, good fellowship and good intentions.

Spruce up Komandorski, don't raze

PLEASANTON — Two local veterans of construction — architect Jack Bras and a retired carpenter Thurmon Caudill — have suggested rehabilitation, not new construction, for Komandorski Village.

But Housing Authority Executive Director Michael Parsons thinks that rehabilitating the "temporary" World War II public housing would be penny wise and pound foolish.

Bras made his suggestion last week, when he was one of the architects interviewed by the Housing Authority Board of Commissioners.

Caudill, one of the carpenters who helped build Komandorski Village 33 years ago, expounded on the topic in a letter to The Times. The basic argument advanced by both men is that quite a bit of federal tax money could be saved by refurbishing the existing housing. Caudill said that "Pleasanton has many 50 and 100 year old homes and to say that Komandorski is worn out at 33 is the height of nonsense." He called the proposed demolition of the old project and its replacement with 150 units "another unwanted redevelopment scheme."

Komandorski is under state edict to be demolished by 1979, but if it were refurbished the Legislature probably would lift that order, said Parsons. Funds are available for refurbishing, but it's not clear whether PHA could get the money, he said.

But even with money available, refurbishing would be false economy, said Parsons.

"It's a matter of building it right in the first place," he said. "When these units were built, they didn't look at things like how the buildings were oriented to the wind, for example. Building them right at this time will help in energy costs over the years. Just facing banks of windows into the wind, as we have now, costs a lot in heating fuel," said Parsons.

The World War II emergency housing was not designed as a pleasant living environment, said Parsons. "This housing was regimented. The people who live here now are not in the army. It's not adequate for living arrangements," said Parsons.

Pleasanton man's report

Rhodesia—while there's still time

Two months ago, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Batchelor were listed among those enjoying the good life of a Castlewood Country Club home, from which they operated his successful import and export businesses, also based in Pleasanton. But then concern for members of the family still residing in Rhodesia and concern also for investments they had left behind in Salisbury prompted the Batchelors to sell their Castlewood home, and return to live again in that troubled South African country ... "to try and work things out while there is still time."

In his first of several promised reports on Rhodesia, Ken Batchelor shares with our readers his views on the life, the commerce and the politics of a nation threatened by war from inside and outside its borders. It is a conflict which carries international impact. — The Editor

We have been in Salisbury, the Capital City of Rhodesia, for just over four weeks now and perhaps you will be interested in a "ringside seat" report of some first impressions. It is too soon to be able to give an in depth report, but there are so many facets to the Rhodesian problem that even first impressions become noteworthy.

Rhodesia is of course on a war-time footing and the whole economic and social structure is under considerable strain. This becomes patently obvious to even the casual observer.

Transport — We have been able to purchase a 1973 Citroen D Super 5 with 68,000 Kms (around 41,000 miles) on the clock. The price was R. $3,450 which works out at around U.S. $4,930. Whether or not this rate of exchange is realistic is a moot point. For example the price paid for a Kruger Rand here is R. $300 as compared with the price in the U.S.A. of U.S. $130. For our Citroen we qualified for a Monthly petrol ration of Seven gallons. This basic ration can be supplemented for specific purposes which have to be substantiated. All Taxis are Mini Taxis and it is indicative of the effort being made to conserve petrol to see that these taxis are pushed by hand by their drivers as they gradually work their way up the front of the taxi rank.

Food — In general food is good and plentiful. It is indeed a pleasant change from the U.S.A. to find that all meat dishes (and they are absolutely first rate) are the cheaper items on the Menu.

Clothes — The shops are surprisingly full but the range of goods is severely limited due to the rigid control exercised on all imports. The extent to which Rhodesia has made itself self supporting in this and other fields is quite amazing and indeed commendable.

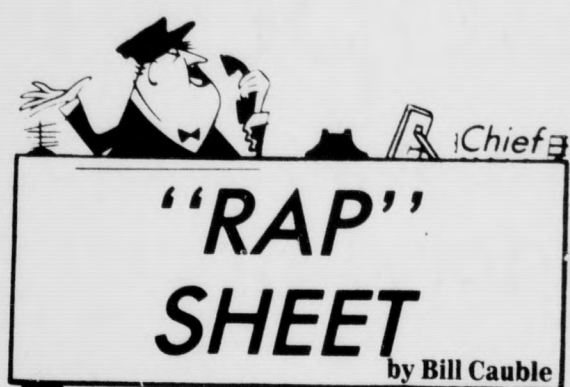

The People — White Rhodesians are understandably in a determined and grim mood. Nearly every family is personally involved in the war against the terrorists and their courage in standing up and making the maximum sacrifices for what they believe to be right can only be admired. The high cost that is being paid was tragically brought home to me when walking through a large downtown departmental store the other day I came face to face with a young wife, her three year old son by her side, pushing a wheel chair in which sat her young husband minus a recently amputated right leg. He couldn't have been more than 24 years old and was obviously still suffering from shock.

The most urgent comment I would like to make at this moment is this: (a) The Rhodesian White are Not fighting to retain white control of the country. They realise and have publicly stated their acceptance of a black majority rule; (b) They are fighting for the retention of a Western Powers aligned country. To my mind this fight is not one that should be borne by Rhodesia alone, but should by now be recognised as the last opportunity to thwart Russian ambitions to dominate and control the whole of mineral rich Southern Africa. Let's not kid ourselves about a friendly Russia permitting the U.S.A. to obtain whatever minerals she needs.

The answer to the whole problem in Southern Africa requires U.S.A. initiative and action. I sincerely hope and believe that our American leadership is fully alive to the actualities of the position and will provide the world with unambiguous evidence of its intentions. I would appear to be a dangerously urgent matter.

Yours sincerely,
Ken Batchelor

Two suspects arrested after chase

LIVERMORE — Two men allegedly involved in a chase at speeds up to 117 mph before their car collided with and disabled a police car were arrested at the Livermore Garden Apartments on East Avenue early Sunday.

Police Sgt. Larry Morrison was patrolling Estates Street about 2:30 Sunday morning when he heard the screech of burning rubber. He caught up to a speeding car, and reported reaching speeds of 117 mph while attempting to follow the car into a residential neighborhood.

The suspect vehicle hit a dirt patch on Irene Way and spun around to face the trailing police unit. As Morrison got out, the other car started up and sped toward the officer. Morrison jumped back into his car and rammed the suspects' car on the passenger side. Its headlights gone, the police car remained disabled at the scene as the other car sped away.

Officer Barry Foye then picked up the pursuit and watched as the other car went into a broadside spin at Charlotte and Susan streets. Two suspects exited the vehicle and ran through the Livermore Garden Apartments at 5720 East Ave.

Foye captured one suspect hiding in the carport lot. Reserve officer Kim Marvin caught the second man hiding in bushes on the west side of the complex.

Arrested were James Edward Dixon, 23, of 2039 San Ramon Valley Blvd., San Ramon, and William Gordon Dixon, 19, of 5482 San Juan Way in Pleasanton. They were booked on suspicion of resisting arrest, assault on a police officer, hit and run and reckless driving.

Loaded gun, butcher knife seized from car
LIVERMORE — Two bald tires led to the arrest of an 18-year-old Pleasanton man on suspicion of possessing a loaded pellet gun and six-inch butcher knife, police reported.

Police noticed the rear tires of a car they were following were nearly bald and pulled the car over on P Street early yesterday. As officer John Balbach held a flashlight so the driver could locate his registration, he noticed the butt of a gun protruding from under the driver's seat.

A bag of pellets and a six-inch butcher knife were recovered from under the front passenger's seat.

Arrested and booked on suspicion of possessing deadly weapons was James Walten Cheney of 3282 Chamblis Court in Pleasanton.

Truck damages Corral Drive-in PLEASANTON — Approximately $1500 damage resulted when someone apparently tried to push over a storage shed at the Corral Drive-in on First Street Sunday, police report.

Owner John Robert Harris of Pleasanton reported the apparent vandalism. Police are looking for a late model light green pick-up truck in connection with the incident.

Two youths arrested in burglary case
DUBLIN — Two youths who allegedly vandalized nine cars in a lot at Crown Chevrolet on Dublin Boulevard were arrested last week.

Deputies found a two-by-two-foot hole cut in an aluminum wall and discovered burglary tools inside.

A 17-year-old Dublin youth and his 15-year-old San Ramon companion were arrested and booked on suspicion of burglary after they reportedly admitted committing the attack.

Little League equipment stolen
PLEASANTON — Burglars entered an unlocked Baywood Court garage Sunday and stole a quantity of Little League baseball equipment, police reported.

Daniel Souza told police that 15 pairs of white baseball pants, three Orioles black and orange shirts, and seven pairs of socks were taken from his garage. They belonged to the Pleasanton American Little League.

Big break

The smiles were brought on by the distribution of gold cards at the Dublin Chamber of Commerce yesterday. They entitle local senior citizens, age 62 and older, discounts at stores whose owners participate in the program. The Shannon Park Community Center also served as a distribution center. Both places will continue the service along with providing lists of partici-

Valley obituary

Dolores Austin

Dolores Miller Austin, native of San Francisco and raised in the Valley, died Friday. She was 54.

She is survived by husband Lee and son Kevin Austin, both of Battleground, Wash.; sons Erik Frank, Livermore, Carl Frank, Indiana and Chris Frank of Utah; sister Mary Aagaard of Nevada and six grandchildren.

She was member and past president of Danebod no. 16, the Danish Ladies' Society of Livermore, and was initiated into Semper Fidelis Chapter, O.E.S. She was active in the Order of the Eastern Star and the DeMolay Mothers Club in Battleground.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. today at the Lane Funeral Home in Battleground.

Memorials may be made to the Heart Fund or a favorite charity.

Carnegie refurbished

LIVERMORE — Renovation of the Carnegie Building, begun last October by Livermore Area Recreation and Park District and the Livermore Bicentennial Organization, has been completed.

The building was given a turn-of-the-century look by a team of community volunteers who handled the high scaffolding work and the electrical project, and a group of court assignees who worked on the lower sections under supervision of LARP staff member Paul Council.

The beige, sandstone and light green paintwork of the original building has been carefully copied to bring back the early 1900's appearance. Cost to LARP was approximately $600 for paint and supplies.

Help for Santa Rita traffic hazard—council

PLEASANTON — A combination of curves and fast speeds off the freeway has combined to make Santa Rita Road's intersection with Las Positas Boulevard a dangerous one, but help will be on the way in the next fiscal year.

That was the promise to Fairlands residents when city council members held one of their monthly town hall meetings last week at Fairlands School.

The intersection is number two on the priority list for a traffic signal during the next fiscal year, which begins July 1. Before then it may be possible to cut the speed limit on the stretch of Tassajara Road which leads into the intersection from Interstate 580, said Director of Public Safety Walt McCloud.

Currently the speed limits are 55 miles per hour from the freeway, then 45 mph, and then 25 mph a short distance after the 45 mph sign when the yellow light is flashing for school children crossing.

Residents made it clear they want lower speed limits and McCloud, a Fairlands resident himself, said that they probably could be lowered, especially since freeway speed limits are much lower than when the city signs were erected a few years ago.

Another safety item of concern to residents involved a promise from developer George Oakes a few years ago to dedicate a small strip on six acres fronting Fairlands Drive so residents will have a safe path to Fairlands Park. Former Mayor Robert Pearson reminded the staff of Oakes' promise, a little amenity prompted by then councilman Robert Reid.

The staff said it will look into the promised dedication.

Mayor's campaign

There was Candidate Bill Foster, representing the Exchange Club, solemnly thanking a rival for offering to sell tickets to his fund-raising project.

Candidate Sid Leon, representing the Pleasanton Lions Club, upstaged his competitors by plastering the banquet room with posters: "The people say Sid's the way."

Black Bart and his gang swaggered into the room with Candidate Pat Brosnan of the Livermore Jaycees, raised their guns and demanded that a vote be counted on the spot.

Candidate Harvey Tulchinsky of the Dublin Rotary Club met that challenge with the sly suggestion that he had "connections in Chicago."

Setting himself up as a "model of honesty" was Candidate Nick DiTola of the Livermore Lions Club, while Candidate Larry Riera of the Dublin Lions Club was prepared for some "non-political mud-slinging."

Spatehead of the mayor's race, K. C. Ramsey of the Dublin Lions announced that the candidate who succeeds in raising the most money for community service will be toasted at an inaugural ball for 500 on May 15 at the Exhibition Hall of the Alameda County Fairgrounds. Tickets to the ball will be sold to the public at $5 per couple beginning April 15, according to Chairman Hal Balew.

Good grades, more money

LIVERMORE — An "excellent" Early Childhood Education (ECE) program is being carried on at Rancho Las Positas and Maitland Henry Schools, according to a state review team.

Jane Preston of San Lorenzo and Gary Bathurst from the Oak Grove school district in south San Jose visited the two mini-schools last week and rated their ECE programs "excellent" in almost every category.

The team, armed with a detailed questionnaire, spent two days at the schools. They interviewed principal Dick Allison as well as staff and parents before drawing their conclusions.

The school's top ratings, combined with good reviews of Rincon and Arroyo Seco Schools, should help Livermore qualify for more ECE funding next year. The state-directed ECE program is designed to bring additional personnel, materials and enrichment money to the primary grades (kindergarten through third grade) on the assumption that a good early program means fewer learning problems later on.

Singled out for special praise at Rancho and Henry:

— "The warm and friendly atmosphere;"

— "The supportive guidance and leadership of the principal, Dick Allison, and ECE Coordinator Pat Heineman;"

— "The functional and well organized record keeping system;"

— "The outstanding volunteer aide program and the efforts of the Volunteer Aide Coordinator, Judie Hurtz;"

— "The positive attitude of the students regarding themselves and school;"

— "The degree of parent participation;"

— "The guidance services, provided by Gary Saso, which are available to students, parents, teachers and aides;"

— "The process used in the development of the plan;"

— "The involvement of parents and staff in the well organized approach to ongoing evaluation."

By way of criticism, the team suggested the school psychologist have more to say about the health/auxiliary component for next year's plan; and the language program be "further refined and implemented."

Rancho and Henry have a total enrollment of 378 and will be combined next fall into a single school at the Rancho site on Tanager Road off Murrieta Boulevard. Currently a kindergarten through fourth grade school, Rancho - Henry will go up to sixth grade next year.

Parent Pam Geiger commented on the ECE program: "So many negative things have been said about the quality of our children's education and it's about time these positive programs are emphasized."

"As a parent of two children enrolled at Rancho/Henry, I can think of no other program where the individual needs of my children could be met so successfully. They are receiving individualized instruction to such a thorough degree and are also being helped toward an awareness of others through a more positive self-image."

Murray, SR hopefuls meet

Murray School District Board of Trustee candidates will be quizzed at a forum tonight to be co-hosted by the Dublin School PTA and League of Women Voters.

The candidates night will start at 7:30 in the Dublin multi-purpose room at 7997 Vomic Rd. in Dublin.

Seeking the two positions to be open at the March 8 election are Linda Cooley, David Foster, Linda Jeffery, Donald Biddle and Harry Molz.

The five will be expected to air their views on two questions, one dealing with the district's consolidation plan and the second with various methods of education.

The moderator will also ask the candidates to respond to questions supplied by the audience.

Child care will be available. For further information, call Eileen Barr at 828-8978.

On Wednesday at noon, the Dublin Chamber of Commerce will hear the Murray candidates at a luncheon scheduled for the Dublin Corral.

The 11 San Ramon Valley Unified School District candidates will air their views Wednesday night at the District Education Center, Old Orchard Drive in Danville. The forum will begin at 7:30.

Vying for the three positions open on the board are Sue Cramer, Robert Schepman, Gregory L. McKoy, Donald Sledge, Joan M. Scott, Harold Zuckerman, Claudia Edwards, Thomas A. Jennings, Harline Kruger, Ronald Harris, and Pat Neil Althizer.

Murray candidates will also be spotlighted Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week at Lydskens, Nielsen and Fallon schools, respectively.

Flag wavers

Livermore campaign notes

Stear favors traditional

School board candidate Barbara Stear favors "a traditional approach to education."

In a recent campaign release, the Livermore candidate explained:

"Twenty years of 'progressive' education has led us into educational 'coma' — the trend is down.

"We have experimented with just about every conceivable approach as to why Johnny can't read until the amount of effort and tax dollars is overwhelming.

"We refuse to accept the answer that Johnny's just going to have to put out some effort and work at learning. It isn't all fun and games!

"We excuse ourselves and Johnny by saying that we just have to find the right approach or alternative or program. Anyone who suggests a structured back-to-basics approach is immediately tagged as not understanding the overwhelming complexity of learning. If we voice doubt as to the effectiveness of the open classroom approach or the individualized learn-at-your-own-rate, we're labeled as ignorant and somewhat odd.

Yet we continue to graduate functional illiterates. This year's SAT scores were the lowest in history! Sixty per cent of the freshman class at UC Berkeley and UC Davis are taking remedial English. Young people feel they are being cheated because nobody "made them learn" and they were allowed to graduate ill equipped to face the world. They were allowed so much freedom of choice and "do your own thing" with no emphasis on mastery of basic skills and career education that they now are back to complete that education in night school.

"Who is at fault for the state of education today? Is it the parents for not taking more of an interest — a forceful interest — in what is or what isn't being learned? Is it the teachers who see the teaching profession as a job instead of a dedication to youth? Or is it just plain old apathy on everyone's part.

"We'd better find out soon — before it's too late!"

Brice coffee

Livermore school board candidate Jan Brice will be greeting the public and answering questions on her views at a coffee Thursday, Feb. 17.

The gathering is at the home of Archer and Pat Futch, 1252 Westbrook Place, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Details on the coffee and other planned events are available from Cindy Duwe, 455-6343.

Scowlers' delight

A good crowd greeted the Livermore Valley Coin Club's 14th annual coin show Sunday at the Holiday Inn. Intense scrutiny of the numismatic treasures was evident everywhere, such as the silver dollar scowling above (left), or the penny perusals (right). There was also the ever-present hope of every coin collector — finding the next model to that 1803 silver dollar (center), on the block for $475. Because only 12 of them exist, the last 1804 silver dollar sold at auction for $150,000. (Times photos by Bill Cauble)

Wages, border issues tonight

LIVERMORE — Two controversial items — summer school teachers' salaries and school boundaries — are on the agenda for tonight's Livermore Unified School District board meeting.

The public meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building at 685 Las Positas Blvd. (at Murieta.)

School boundaries and teachers' summer salaries have already been the subjects of discussions around the district. Because of the major building program which will be completed this summer, attendance areas are shifting, especially around Rancho Las Positas School, which will be going up to sixth grade next year instead of fourth; and on the west side of town, where a new school, Sunset East, will draw children formerly attending Arroyo Mocho or other schools in the area.

Other agenda items include two personal injury damage claims; approval for employment agreements for annuity purchase; approval of a string of bid specifications; and first reading of a board policy and regulation on "compliance with City of Livermore local zoning ordinances regarding school construction."

Learn about early childhood education

LIVERMORE — What is ECE?

Why so much concern? How does it affect my child?

If those questions sound familiar, and you'd like them answered — you're invited to a meeting of Joe Michell School's TAPS (Teachers And Parents Society) program at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Bill Baker, coordinator of elementary education and early childhood education for the county, will speak on the subject and answer questions. The meeting will be in the multipurpose room.

FINDING THE REAL YOU

Human growth is self awareness, looking inside, at areas that seem without substance. This is the view of Dr. Crittendon Brookes, Assistant Chief of the Psychiatric Department of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital.

To find ourselves, we must look at dreams and fantasies, moods and meditations, and the representations of others in our dreams and fantasies. That's how we find out what it is we are really feeling. We get in touch with ourselves and with our true feelings about others.

He explained that feelings are now being given more validity in psychiatric thinking of the past 25 years. "I don't feel like it!" can be considered a valid reason for not doing something. "Growth is where you move your criterion for self-evaluation back inside yourself." What others think of you is less important than what you think of yourself.

"Even inside, a lot of the answers we get are not our own..." according to Dr. Brooks. "They are from other people who are now dead, gone, or now have changed. We have these broken records... films inside ourselves that tell us who we are, or ought to be.

This is our legacy from parents and others who have influenced us. But we haven't necessarily gotten the message from them straight either.

"We must learn to trust our immediate response to situations, not the one we get a millionth of a second later when pathology takes over." That is when we get the message our brain, computer-like, has stored up for us of what we "should" feel about life. It is not necessarily what we DO feel. Can we be happy if we do not know our own true feelings? Part of growth is being "true to one's self, finding the real self, learning to understand which is self..."

"You cannot relate adequately to another unless you relate legitimately with yourself." Sometimes we see others as projections of ourselves: "My Son the doctor." We ourselves can only be open and spontaneous about ourselves if we have nothing to hide. "If we are still trying to defend something (about ourselves) we cannot be open in areas of our own unimportance."

The thrill inside, the peak experiences of our lives, the moments when we feel so good, in spite of what we have been "taught" to feel, are the times when our real self is revealed to us. St. Francis said, "Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace..." When we have found self-acceptance, self-esteem, we are then able to detach ourselves from our own importance. "While maintaining the deeper meaning" we have attached to ourselves, we can get the sense of being an instrument. "God speaks through me."

According to the psychiatrist, we need to do this in psychological growth. We need to see ourselves as valuable, as worthwhile, before we can let go of Ego.

"The next stage in growth is to let Ego go. Then we have a sense of participation of self in the universe. "One can only give if one can get. Love is reciprocity between people. It is not obligatory. Doing something out of duty is not love." Pseudo-love is doing something for someone because you think you are supposed to, not because you really want to. But when we tell ourselves and others that it is love, we are not in touch with our real selves.

A limited view of self and of reality results in depression, common in our society. Depression is self-reduction. "I am only a housewife." Depression is reducing oneself to meagerness within one's self."

Dr. Brookes leaves us with the message, "Give validity to your own yearnings, what's important to you." We are to listen to what our dreams and fantasies tell us, to find out where our true feelings are, and to our own selves be true.

Service Spotlight

She integrates her commitments

CAROL ANDREWS
Volunteer of the month

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lifestyle will focus the "Service Spotlight" each month on a volunteer who has demonstrated dedicated service to a local agency. The selection of the volunteer will be made by a special committee at the Valley Volunteer Bureau. Nominations of previously unrecognized persons who serve your program loyally may now be submitted to the bureau at 287 Rose Ave., Pleasanton.

Carol Andrews of Livermore has given a lot of herself — 7,000 hours in 11 years as a volunteer for the Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary — but she wholeheartedly believes she has received much more in return.

Service has always been an integral part of her life, from the days of her childhood when Carol watched her mother care for a dozen children over the years. Today, Carol also involves her children in her task of repairing toys for the auxiliary's Thrift Shop.

"We all have different needs, and my family understands that volunteer work is something I do for myself," she declares. "I carefully assess my own needs, and the needs of those around me — my husband and children — before deciding how much time I can give. I have learned to say no to a request if giving more means jeopardizing any of my responsibilities."

Her approach is successful. She has been able to serve the hospital auxiliary steadily, through the many different stages of her life as wife, new mother, parent of young children, woman with grown children. Her decision to become the auxiliary's president last year, responsible for 250 adult volunteers and 100 junior volunteers, was made with her family's approval.

She's also pitched in for the League of Women Voters, Girl Scouts, PTA, Heart Fund and committee which created Carleton Square.

"I've found that to be happy, especially in a small town, you've got to be involved in something meaningful. You've got to feel that what you do DOES count. When you open yourself to other people, they open themselves to you."

The Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary really has something for everyone — volunteers who do the legwork which frees the professionals to give more personal attention to patients, auxiliary bookkeepers who may never step into the hospital, capable assistants in the emergency room, volunteers who keep the gift shop running smoothly for many hours a week, puppeteers who entertain hospitalized children, volunteers who sort through donations to make the Thrift Shop a financial boon to the hospital, receptionists and volunteers at the Family Medical Center in San Ramon.

Tickets at $12.50 per couple for the ball at Castlewood Country Club this Saturday are available at The Gingham Corner, Pleasanton Bakery and Glanville's in Pleasanton.

Lithophiles carve slate

The Lithophiles Gem and Mineral Club will meet Thursday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Recreation Center, 8th and H Streets. Slate carving will be demonstrated by Carmen Cavallieri of the Mineral and Gem Society of Castro Valley.

Field trip chairman Joe Iannucci is planning a trip to San Francisco and Oakland to various museums, an opportunity for a family outing.

The club's shop at The Barn in Livermore is open from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays, with an instructor always available. Club members are requested to pay their 1977 dues, which are $10 per family, $8 per couple, $5 for singles and $2.50 for junior members.

Donate books!

The American Association of University Women is currently collecting used hardback and paperback books to be used for their annual book sale. Anyone wishing to donate books may call Louise Gray (447-1455), Betty Dawson (462-2549) or Helen Stender (828-9028). Donations clearly marked for AAUW may be left at the Livermore Library.

The book sale will be held Saturday, March 19 at the Barn in Livermore from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Valley-wide volunteer needs

The Valley Volunteer Bureau is a clearinghouse for the valley community where human resources and human needs are matched. The bureau maintains an up-to-date inventory of types of volunteers needed. To find out how you can help, call the bureau at 462-3570 or stop by its office at the YMCA Building, 287 Rose Ave., Pleasanton. Office hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The fund, a non-profit venture, was established from contributions made by the Rotarians.

Hee haw hoedown

Big Trees 4-H won top honors with the club's "Hee Haw 4-H Style" at both the valley and county Skit Nites. Thirty-two members wrote, sang and delivered one-liners that brought down the house at both competitions. With "Prime Time 4-H" as its theme, Skit Nite in Pleasanton featured 21 clubs. Three groups went on to the county competition at Hayward where they challenged winners of Hayward and Castro Valley. What special ingredient did Big Trees throw into winning first place? They each had a speaking part, instead of relying on one star.

Dons, 'Stangs mentioned

'Pokes achieve poll ranking

Livermore High jumped into the East Bay Prepwriter's Basketball Poll for the first time this season by placing 14th in the poll released this morning.

The John Jones-coached Cowboys' 13-8, are riding a nine-game winning streak after going 4-8 in their first 12 games.

East Bay Athletic League clubs Monte Vista and Amador Valley also received honorable mentions in the poll for the second consecutive week.

Fremont High of Oakland, although suffering their first loss of the year Tuesday to Castlemont, edged out St. Mary's to remain tops in the poll with an 18-1 record. The second-ranked Catholic Athletic League School has won 23 of 27 contests.

Castlemont placed fourth behind rival Oakland Athletic League club McClymonds.

For the first time in recent weeks, two teams other than Fremont received first-place votes. One was St. Mary's, the other being Bud Bartz' Northgate crew. The Broncos have compiled a 21-1 record, including a win earlier in year of the Amador Basketball Tournament, and have lost to only unranked Ygnacio Valley.

If ever a week was made for upsets in the EBAL, it would have to be the upcoming one. The upper division plays the lower division in nearly every game scheduled for both Wednesday and Friday.

Tomorrow's action pits co-league leader Amador Valley (9-2) at San Ramon (7-4) in the most competitive game scheduled. However, the Dons simply embarrassed the Wolves last time out, 71-29, so the scene could be interesting.

Foothill (2-9), still looking to break a horrendous losing streak, try and upset Livermore's (9-2) plans of a possible EBAL championship. With a playoff berth seemingly in the bag for the 'Pokes, the thought of EBAL title is foremost now.

In topping a tough San Ramon team 68-51 Friday evening, the 'Pokes received an excellent all-around effort from Sophomore Center Brian Schweiger, who scored 24 points and went eight-for eight from the free throw line. Steve Sperber continues to shine in defeat for the Falcons, scoring 20-plus points a game consistently on a deadly outside eye for a 6-5 player.

The Dons, who got their game in super shape following 60-41 and 84-44 routs of Granada and Dublin, respectively, are in fine tune for the home stretch of the season. Their balanced attack, led by guard Mike Hansen and complemented by forwards Sam Jorgensen, Chris Kearns, Don Hall and Rick Howard, carried them to victories last week. John Sevo played a major part in thwarting off an early Granada charge.

The Mats (6-5) face must-win situations in every game from here on out, beginning with California (2-9) tomorrow evening.

Just two weeks ago Granada was a step away from the EBAL lead, but losses to San Ramon, Livermore and Monte Vista have put rocks in their path. Trailing San Ramon by one game in the fight for the final playoff spot, the Mats will need a big scoring night from Joey Wujek and the continued scoring of Dan Lambert to climb back into the picture. The shiftiness of the Mat lineup has been a factor all year long. Since their opening game of the season against Northgate High only Joey Wujek still remains in the starting lineup from that original five.

Tomorrow's final contest pits Dublin (1-10) against prime and ready Monte Vista (8-).

The Gaels and Mustangs have already battled twice this year, once during league action in the Del Oro pre-season tourney.

The Mustangs have come out on top both times, although only by three in their Del Oro encounter.

The Gaels, certainly capable of upsetting the Mustangs, are relatively new sole owners of the EBAL cellar after losing to the Grizzlies Friday evening. If Jim Boulware, Jeff Barnes and Chuck Gangnuss pick up the hot hand against the Mustangs they may be able to beat MV. Dublin has lost ten games, but against Granada, Amador and Livermore they played down to the final minutes. And the loss in Del Oro was by no means a gimme.

Friday's games will see California at Livermore, Granada at Dublin, Foothill hosting Amador Valley and San Ramon battling Monte Vista in the fight for Danville.

In the contest for the fourth and final playoff spot San Ramon must play Granada in the Mats' gym on February 23rd, most likely a deciding game for the playoffs which begin on February 25th.

Penalty kicks boost Ballistics

Penalty kicks by Frank Duarte, Darren Hicks, Mark Clay and Edward Kinyon combined with a first half goal by David Croteau to give Ballistic United a 2-1 overtime win in the championship game of the Commissioner's Cup under-14 soccer tournament Sunday at the Dublin Sports Grounds.

Clay assisted on Cro-teau's goal from the field that combined with a Kid goal to send the game into an overtime that turned out to be scoreless, forcing the penalty shots.

Hicks turned back numerous Livermore offensive assaults, helping goalies Scott Wilcox, who had four saves, and Brian Corcoran, who had three. Donny Jones scored twice and assisted on another score to give Ballistic United a 4-0 win over the Ballistic Nationals in under-12 play.

Karl Kesterke and Sean Moore scored the other goals while Andy Eesling recorded the three-save shutout with help from defenders Jimmy Kruger and Mark Andrews.

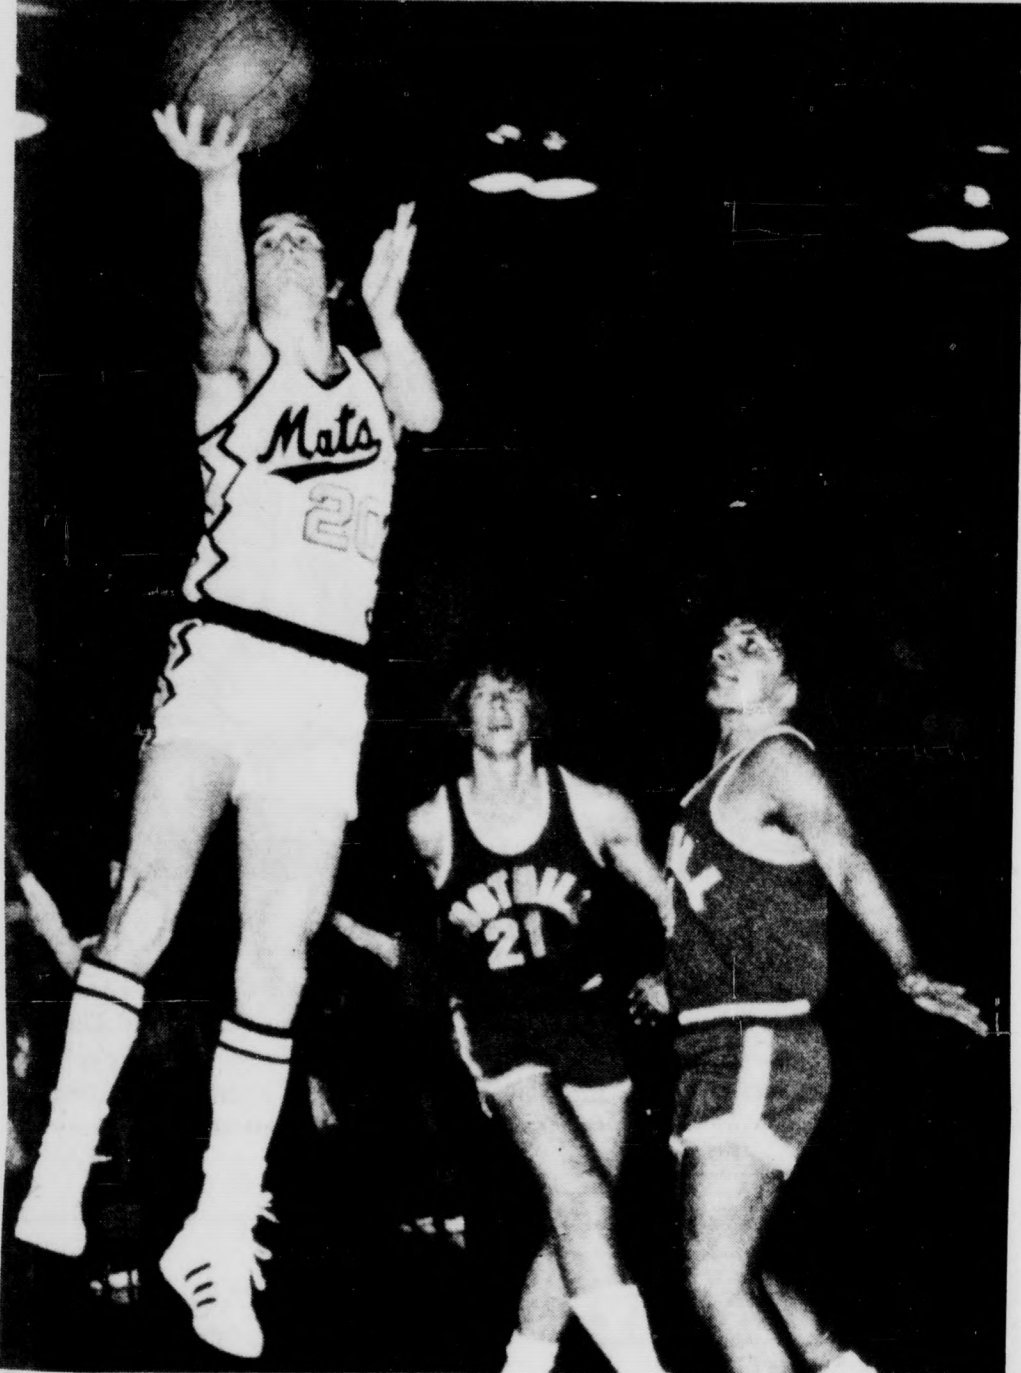

For the Nationals, Trent Brown and Brian Jackson played well on the wings.

In the under-10 final between a pair of evenly matched arch-rivals, Mike Dueterhaus' goal three minutes into overtime lifted Ballistic United to a 3-2 win over the Livermore Clippers.

Nicky Martinson scored United's first goal while Chris Poulos did an outstanding job in goal. Shawn Salazar played well.

Todd Murray hit the Clippers first goal off an assist from Kenny Petlansky while Eric Woods completed the scoring off a Darren Lee feed.

Jeff O'Connor had three saves while sharing the netminding duties with Dave Voelker while Kenny Coloma and Bobby Kilman supported the offense.

Granada's Steve Robison drives for the basket as approaching Foothill players cast glances. The Mats face a do-or-die situation from now on as the season EBAL basketball winds down to the end.

Ex-Granada coach

Springer named Alameda head

Washington High of Fremont coach Bob Springer, whose Huskies defeated Livermore High for the North Coast Southern Section 4-A football title, has been named to head the Alameda County All-star football team along with Sunset's Carroll France.

The Alamedans will go up against Contra Costa County in the annual bash slated for August 20th at Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has again certified the classic that benefits United Cerebral Palsy of Alameda - Contra Costa and the Kiwanis Youth Fund.

In his first year as coach at Washington High, Springer took a team that had primarily learned a ball-control type of game and turned them into one of the more wide-open offensive units around.

The Huskies lost their first two games of the year, to Hayward and Granada, but won nine straight before bowing to Pinole Valley in the NCS 4-A finals.

Even in the losses, Washington was never out of a game. A stingy defense and explosive offense made it one of the most feared teams in the East Bay.

"It's sure an honor, probably the biggest honor I've had since coaching," Springer said. "It's just an excellent opportunity to work with some real skilled people. I'm looking forward to working with Coach France."

Springer, a graduate of Lincoln High in San Francisco, attended USF on a football scholarship before the university dropped the sport. He obtained his teaching credential from San Francisco State and first coached at Lick - Wilmerding High in 1959 as offensive backfield coach.

Springer was the first-ever football coach at Granada High after serving short stints at El Camino in Sacramento and Del Mar in Crescent City.

Springer took over the reins of Washington High in 1976 after serving as an assistant for nine years under Jim Ingram, who is an advisory coach for the All-Star game.

Primarily offensive-minded, Springer said his philosophy is to "try and keep the defensive team off balance as much as possible, but at the same time I don't want to grab bag. We have a definite game plan and feel if we are stopped running the ball, we'll throw it as many times as we have to move it."

Springer's coaching partner, France, played at Alameda High in 1963 and later at Diablo Valley College and Cal State Hayward. He has been coaching at Sunset since 1969, taking over the head coaching spot in 1974 after Don Cadenasso stepped down.

McGinnis agrees with choice

MILWAUKEE — George McGinnis wanted to make it perfectly clear: The Philadelphia 76ers' muscular 6-8 superstar fully concurred with media representatives who voted his teammate, Julius Erving, most valuable player of Sunday's National Basketball Association All-Star Game, even though McGinnis and Dr. J were on the losing East team.

But McGinnis emphasized that he thought his former teammate, guard Don Buse of the Indiana Pacers, should have been a close runner-up in the balloting.

The West won 125-124 as Paul Westphal of Phoenix sank a layup with 38 seconds left for the decisive points.

Two free throws five seconds later by Bob McAdoo of the New York Knicks brought the East to within 125-124, and a steal by McAdoo moments later gave the East a chance for a potential winning basket.

However, Westphal stole the ball from Atlanta's Pete Maravich as Maravich prepared to launch a jump shot from the top of the key with seven seconds to play.

Still, McGinnis' point was that the West would not have been in position to win had it not been for a third-quarter burst in which the West, which had trailed by up to 12 points most of the way, outscored the East 20-2, including a flurry of 12 successive points.

Buse, the NBA leader in steals and assists, finished with only four points, but both his baskets came during the third quarter surge in which he also was credited with three assists.

Barry, the Golden State Warriors' veteran forward who played in his seventh All-Star Game, set up Westphal's winning basket by scrambling for a loose ball with a superb effort. Sprawling on his back, Barry flipped the ball to Bobby Jones of Denver, who fired to Westphal at the opposite end of the court for the layup.

Barry's effort, along with Westphal's steal from Maravich, blunted a fourth-quarter East comeback led by Erving and McAdoo, both of whom finished with 30 points. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles led the West with 21 while Westphal had 20.

Erving's total included several twisting slam-dunks, including one effort in which he sped past the 7-2 Abdul-Jabbar, leaped high and slammed the ball through the basket.

Kyle, Campiotti lead Cosmos' 6-1 romp

Kevin Kyle and Carl Campiotti each scored twice as the Livermore Cosmos ripped the Fremont Celtics, 6-1, in Association Cup, under-12 soccer play over the weekend.

Scott Meyers and Tony Saputo had the winner's other goals while Robert Billis had two assists and Kent Goodman and Robby Jones, one each.

Jim Wright also assisted while Doug Chase, David Ambuehl and Tyler Moore all played well on defense to help goalie Robert Daugherty to a three-save afternoon.

Craig McKinley scored three goals as the Ballistic Rowdies whitewashed the San Jose Eagles, 9-0.

Sean Kelly had a goal and an assist while McKinley also assisted. Dennis Knowles, Russ Lovell, Juan Covian, Steve Rogers and Mark Silva scored the other goals while Gordon Lang had an assist.

Buddy Edney, Paul Hales and Tom Jones played well for the winners.

Peter Leaf and Jeff Hales each had a goal and an assist as the Ballistic Nationals dumped the Fresno Ewing Hotspurs, 3-0.

Jason Molz needed two saves to chalk up the shut-out while Brandon Baxter and Mike Lemm played well.

In under-10 play, the Livermore Gremlins, who captured the Elks Cup two weeks ago, got penalty kick goals from Shannon Borges, Ronnie Hurtz, Pat Governor and Jeff Peters to record a 4-1 win over the Oakland Clippers.

Chris Rivers tallied the only post-overtime score for Oakland.

Dave Lennier, and Jay Brown were outstanding at fullback while Mike Burkett, John Bancodari and Don Sveen also played well.

Abeid Davis, Curtis Hall and Eric Morrison played well for the losers.

BETTER THAN SOLAR HEATING!

THE AUTOMATIC SOLAR COVER

- SOLAR HEAT: most effective solar heater available. Not only adds heat, but insulates and prevents evaporative and radiant heat losses at night.
- SAFETY: most effective security device you can add to your pool. You can go away for a vacation and be secure.
- WATER: Our newest shortage, again the Automatic-Cover is the solution. Cover the pool and your evaporation is almost eliminated. After all, what could be better in a drought than 20,000 gallons of water in your yard?
- CHEMICALS: prevents most losses and use of these expensive chemicals, thereby helping to maintain pH balance and reduce caustic effects on people and clothing.
- MAINTENANCE: prevents dirt from entering the pool, eliminates evaporation of the chemicals, effectively reducing all of the related maintenance and keeping the pool in chemical balance.

Pop Warner up to six teams

The Tri - Valley Pop Warner Junior Football League's Board of Directors recently voted to expand their program to six teams in 1977.

The two additional teams will be based in Livermore. One team will play the PeeWee Division (65-100 lbs., ages 9-11) and one Junior Midget team (80-115, ages 10-12). Last year, youths from Dublin, Livermore, Pleasanton, San Ramon and Danville participated in the four Tri - Valley teams.

Pop Warner is an organized tackle football program for youths 9-14 years of age. The Tri - Valley teams play neighboring towns such as Walnut Creek, Concord, Martinez, Pleasant Hill and San Leandro.

With the addition of two teams this year, Tri - Valley is accepting applications for qualified head coaches and assistant coaches on both the Livermore and Dublin squads. Minimum age for head coaches is 21 years, with experience in coaching youth sports. Minimum age for assistant coaches is 18 years. Anyone interested or wishing more information concerning the Tri - Valley Pop Warner program should call Mike Pate at 828-5915 or George Damoulos at 462-4961.

Rock takes two more swim firsts

Chris Rock, who scored two first place victories on Saturday, brought home two more Sunday to lead local entrants in the 24th annual Livermore AquaCowboys' AAU "AA" AquaRodeo at May Nissen Park.

Rock clocked a 4:52.0 in the grueling 400 Individual Medley (15-18 boys) and took the 100 free with a fine 56.1. Rock is from the Pleasanton Swim Club.

Greg Remmert, also from Pleasanton, won first place medals in the 13-14 boys 50 free, taking first in 27.3.

From the Aqua Cowboys, the Lohmann Brothers, Paul and Karl, led the way with Paul nipping Pleasanton's Jay Jones in the 15-18 100 back by a tenth of a second. Karl finished second in the 15-18 100 breast.

Steve Ruffner of the AquaCowboys won that same event and finished second in the 100 breast.

For the girls Pleasanton's Patti Daley whipped out a 2:35.5 to take first place honors in the 13-14 200 individual medley, while Suzanne Moran, competing in the 10 and under 100 breast, finished first in 1:29.6.

Pleasanton's Andy Bota took third place in the 13-14 Boys 100 breast.

A word of advice

Amador Valley High School girls' basketball coach Lottie Bain points out a few things to her East Bay Athletic League leaders during a recent game. The AV girls travel to Dublin tonight while Monte Vista visits Granada, Livermore travels to San Ramon and Foothill meets California on the Grizzly floor.

Giant-killing AIA has giant booster

TUSTIN, Calif. — The banners draped around the arena when they play say "Jesus Is Lord" and "The First Shall Be Last." They pray before, during and after games. At halftime, they urge spectators to "Open your hearts to Christ."

Athletes in Action, an amateur basketball team made up of former college players and based in this Los Angeles suburb, is unusual in more ways than one.

Team members all are ministers. And while they're attempting to spread the gospel through the game of basketball, they're also making believers of another sort of their opponents.

AIA, which was the AAU champion in 1976 and has a 26-6 record this year, lists a 104-85 exhibition victory over the nation's top-ranked college team, the University of San Francisco, among its credits. High ranked Nevada-Las Vegas also fell to AIA in an exhibition game, losing 104-77.

"Our goal is to represent the United States at the world championships at Manila in 1978. We think we have the best amateur team in the world and we want to prove it," said Dave Hannah, the founder and national director of AIA, the sports extension of Campus Crusade for Christ.

Hannah, who decided two years ago to try to build a powerful basketball team, has put together a squad of talented and obviously devoted individuals.

Center Bayard Forrest, a rugged 6-10, 225-pounder out of Arizona's Grand Canyon College, reportedly turned down a two-year contract for $230,000 offered him by the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association.

Forrest, like the other married members of AIA, draws a monthly minister's salary of $900. Unmarried members get $700 a month.

The 19th player selected in the last NBA draft, Forrest said of his decision, "The Lord felt I would be of more service to Him with AIA."

"That being the case, I'd have played with AIA if Seattle had offered me a million dollars. Eventually, probably next season, I'd like to play in the NBA; one of AIA's goals is to have a ministry throughout pro sports."

Forrest, who had a total of 28 rebounds and 26 points against San Francisco and Nevada-Las Vegas, joins with forwards Irv Kiffin, a 6-9, 215-pounder out of Oklahoma Baptist, and 6-8 Tim Hall, from Colorado State, to give AIA a powerful front line.

Kiffin delivers one of the more powerful halftime testimonies, saying religion changed his life after he'd been addicted to heroin for five years.

The starters at guard are Eldon Lawyer, from Oral Roberts University, and Brad Hoffman, out of North Carolina. The 5-10 Hoffman had a total of 28 points, 19 assists and four steals against USF and Las Vegas.

Reserves include 7-2 Ralph Drollinger, a center from UCLA; guard Freeman Blade, out of Eastern Montana College, and Scott

Thompson, a former Iowa star. Drollinger was a seventh - round pick by the Boston Celtics, Blade was selected fourth by the Philadelphia 76ers and Thompson was the Detroit Pistons' third-round choice.

Coach Bill Oates, a former high school and junior college coach, has guided AIA to a 64-14 record since taking over the team two years ago.

Oates said AIA's being a Christian team doesn't necessarily mean it plays a passive brand of basketball.

"Have you seen Tim Hall go to the boards?" Oates asks. "He's an animal. Christian players can be tough, too."

"We'll use our elbows and butt heads if we have to ... but we won't play dirty."

"Since I've been associated with AIA, 2,000 to 3,000 people have become Christians as a direct result of our halftime invitations to receive Christ," he said.

"And another 10,000 people have mailed us cards asking for more information."

Garcia beaten

MODESTO — Previously unbeaten Tony Garcia of Pleasanton dropped a unanimous decision to Kenneth Clark of Ft. Ord in the championship bout of the 156-pound division of the novice Tri-State tournament at the Uptown Arena here Saturday night.

Garcia went into the match with a 5-0 lifetime amateur record after bloodying Andrew Cook in Friday's opening bout.

Garcia's Pleasanton Athletic League team mate, Henry Navarro, got his career off to the right start with a victory over Gary Patrick of the Stewart, Nev. Indian School.

But, in his second light-middleweight fight, he met the finals-bound Clark. Behind on points, Clark came out swinging in the third round and stunned Navarro with a desperate punch, forcing trainer Fred Jimenez to throw in the sponge.

Chabot College entertains West Valley tonight in a Golden Gate Conference basketball game at 8 p.m.

Diablo Valley, meanwhile, travels to Laney to meet the Eagles.

Both schools men's tennis teams will be in action today. The Glads travel to Menlo Park to face Menlo while DVC goes south to Santa Cruz to meet Cabrillo.

Dublin tennis

DUBLIN — Memberships for the Dublin Tennis Club are currently being taken for the 1977 season.

The DTC, which has been providing the local area with tennis enjoyment over the last four years, holds eight tournaments from March to October. The first event is scheduled for Saturday, March 26 and will be an open Mixed Doubles Round Robin Tournament.

Dues for the club are as follows: $5 for a single membership, $7.50 for a family membership and $2 for a junior membership. Members are encouraged to pay dues before March to insure that their names will appear on the club roster. For more information call Dave Andrade at 829-0248.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman in my mid 40s, in good health. Over the years I have become a little overweight and am planning on losing 15 pounds. I have found a lot of calorie charts but I am interested in protein as I want to eat the right amount to keep my health. Could you tell me how much protein I need a day and where I could get a protein chart to know how much I am getting?

DEAR READER — Women over 18 need 46 grams of protein a day, plus 30 grams if they are pregnant and plus 20 grams if nursing a baby. This is the Recommended Daily Dietary Allowance (RDA) for normal healthy people, which means it is more than the minimal requirement.

This amount of protein assumes you are getting enough calories in your diet to provide the energy you need each day. If you are using 2500 calories of energy a day and are eating a total of only 1500 calories and have no fat stores, then all that protein in your 1500 calorie diet would be used for energy and you would be protein deficient. In other words, there are two important requirements for protein — the actual grams of good quality protein in your diet and enough calories in your diet to be sure the protein is available for your body to use for building and replacement processes.

In your case, even if you are not taking in as many calories as you use, the protein in your diet can be used for building purposes. The rest of your daily calorie needs will be met by using up your body fat stores — which is what you want.

The kind of protein does matter. Proteins are made up of amino acids. The protein you eat must include sufficient amounts of the essential amino acids — those that cannot be manufactured in your body from other amino acids. For children there are 10 of these and eight for healthy adults. Two of the best sources of complete protein that will meet all these requirements are meats (red meats, fish, poultry) and milk.

I am sending you two issues of The Health Letter, numbers 3-5 (Proteins, Part I) and 3-6 (Proteins, Part II). In Part II there is a listing of the common protein foods and what percentage of their weight is from protein. Others who want information on proteins can send 50 cents for either of these two issues with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for mailing. Just send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As a general rule, there are 100 grams of good protein in a pound of lean, raw meat; the weight is for the edible portion only after fat, bone and non-muscular tissues are removed. That means if you eat a half pound of meat a day (flesh only of chicken, fish or red meat) you will meet your protein requirements while on your diet. An 8-ounce glass of milk will contain nine grams of protein and if it is fortified milk, 10 grams of protein.

There is more to weight loss than this. To help you in this regard I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. It will give you a diet plan that provides all the protein you need for a balanced diet. It is available to other readers, too, for 50 cents. Don't overlook the value of exercise while you are trying to lose fat and get back in shape.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHAT MAKES A SKUNK SMELL?"

STEPHEN PABST
BUFFALO, WY

A. A SKUNK HAS A PAIR OF SCENT GLANDS UNDER ITS TAIL FROM WHICH IT CAN SPRAY A SMELLY LIQUID THAT SERVES AS A DEFENSE AGAINST ENEMIES

A skunk is a small animal famous for its unpleasant odor.

The common North American skunk is easily recognized by its suit of black fur marked with white. It is about the size of a house cat.

The skunk's unpopularity is due to its means of self-defense — it protects itself from its enemies by spraying an evil-smelling liquid, which the skunk stores in a pair of scent glands under its tail.

The skunk is a peaceful little animal. It almost never bothers its neighbors. In return, the skunk expects to be let alone.

If a dog attacks the skunk, it turns its back to the dog, raises its bushy tail and stamps its feet. If this fair warning is not heeded, the skunk will spray its smelly liquid.

A frightened skunk can squirt a fine spray of this liquid for a distance of several feet with good aim.

The terrible odor is so strong that it usually puts to rout any foolhardy attacker.

East-West vulnerable

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "In our code word 'ARCH' the 'R' stands for Review the bidding. What this means is that you determine the probable distribution of the defenders' hands and the location of their high cards from what they have bid."

Oswald: "This helps you to plan your play in accordance with 'How can I make this contract?'"

Jim: "East overlooked his partner's king of spades with the ace and led the suit back. South's jack lost to West's queen and West continued with the 10 of spades which South ruffed."

Oswald: "South reviewed the bidding in his own mind. East had passed his partner's one-spade opening and had shown up with the ace of spades. There was no way he could also hold the king of hearts. In addition West had made a vulnerable opening bid. He needed the king of hearts for it."

Jim: "Both signs told South that his only chance to make his contract would be to find West with that king and no guard for it. He laid down his ace of hearts, dropped the king and was home."

Ask the Jacobys

A Florida reader wants to know the correct opening bid with:

♠ Q J 10 9 7 5 4 3 ♥ K ♦ K 10 7 ♣ 10 4

Assuming your partner doesn't take your opening preempts seriously you should open three spades if not vulnerable and might even try it when vulnerable if you like to live dangerously.

On the other hand a pass cannot be criticized if you select that call.

Fusion — power at a fraction of the cost

LIVERMORE — It sounds like a science fiction writer's dream — a machine producing cheap energy using an inexhaustible fuel supply and producing no harmful byproducts.

But Richard F. Post, deputy associate director for magnetic fusion energy and physics at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, spoke of fusion energy as the ideal power source for the future in a speech Thursday night at the Emperor's Garden restaurant.

Fusion energy is created by forcing two atoms to fuse together, thus producing kinetic energy, which can be converted to heat or sometimes electrical energy.

The fuel is obtained from water through an easy atom separation process. Although now scarce, water is considered an inexhaustible fuel supply compared to other energy-producing systems.

A 56-inch diameter water pipe could supply the world's energy needs once fusion power is perfected, Post said.

A gram of fusion energy would cost about 30 cents to produce. Twenty grams per second could continuously supply the world with energy.

Post compared the 30 cent per gram cost of fusion energy to buying 100 gallons of gasoline for one cent.

Water would theoretically supply the earth with fuel for 100 billion years. At the end of that time, Post said the total environmental impact would be a one-foot level of water in all our oceans.

The main technological problem with the fusion concept is containing the fuel long enough for it to heat up to 100 million degrees and cause a reaction.

Two LLL scientists recently developed a new concept in fusion fuel containers while working independently. Simultaneously a Soviet physicist published a similar design.

The container idea is essentially a cylinder surrounded by circular magnets with magnetic "mirrors" on each end. Tests on the new concept have been encouraging.

A small amount of radioactivity is released as a system byproduct, but has a short life and can be easily controlled. Post says if the container problem can be practically solved, all other problems are minor and can be dealt with easily.

"If I am willing to think far enough in the future, I believe what will happen is that mankind will come to rely exclusively on fusion energy, both the man-made kind (fusion energy) and natural (solar energy)."

"And we will rely on solar energy not for power in large quantities, but for heating purposes and other needs for lower-grade heat energy. Manmade fusion, people will rely on for all high-grade energy" (electricity and high-temperature energy for recovery of reprocessing materials).

"Nuclear fusion, the manmade kind, can provide this source of high-grade energy and with an inexhaustible fuel supply (water)," he said.

Although fusion reaction was discovered 40 years ago and the U.S. declassified its research work in 1958 for worldwide consumption, Post believes fusion reactors will not be commercially producing energy until the 1990's.

Soviets have a fusion research program 50 per cent bigger than does the U.S. Japan has a smaller program but it is growing at the fastest rate.

Post sees fission reactors, which use uranium to produce energy but give off plutonium (an ingredient in atomic bombs), as a short term answer to the energy crisis. But when fusion power is perfected, other energy systems would be phased out due to the relative cost and safety savings, he believes.

Taking shape

Twelve heavy-timbered trusses have been erected at St. Raymond's Church, San Ramon, as the structure of the permanent church and chapel continues in the construction phase. A unique feature in the building's design is the air-floor heating system. As an energy saving device, it is designed to utilize solar sources when further developed. This is the first church structure in the area that includes this in the design. The new church building is expected to be completed by July.
